

国立西洋美術館の前庭にある『考える人』

Where ?

I'm going to talk about "The Thinker".

The Thinker was made by Rodin. (1840~1917) He was a sculptor in France.

The Thinker is a bronze statue. It's 186 centimeters tall.

Then it's in front yard of the National Museum of Western Art.

By the way the right Thinker looks like a real one!

---

Where is it? It's at Minami-Kosigaya. It's behind a construction company.

---

Really! Why is it here?

---

Because the president of company says that we have to think well and work.

---

That's all.

Thank you for listening.
